

Lost Passwords

GotSoccer maintains over 1.3 million individual player, 170,000 team, and several hundred thousand coach, manager and referee accounts. Giving login information over the phone is a dangerous situation as it is difficult to confirm an individual has the right to access the account. Therefore, we do not provide login information over the phone or via individual emails sent to us requesting login information.

GotSoccer will automatically send login information for all similar accounts with the same email address via our password retrieval system. All you need is the email address used to create the account and to use the correct retrieval link, see below. All the links described below can be found on the specific login screen at, www.GotSoccer.com

To retrieve login information for accounts with an unknown email address:

All we can do is suggest:

- 1) Look in your Inbox, Spam, or Junk folders for emails from support@gotSPORT.com. If you created the account for a tournament, search under the tournament name. Tournaments can send login information, but only to valid email addresses.
- 2) Contact your club, association, or league as they will have access to your team and player account.
